Editorial Comments.

Huerta is leaving without saluting the flag.

Central Kentucky and counties as far west as Daviess have had good rains this week.

The dictator will quit, it is said, to save Mexico City. Incidentally he expects to save his own life.

Senator Camden has urged the Rev. T. C. Stackhouse, of Lexington, for appointment as Minister to Chile.

Miss Annie Long, after two attempts to commit suicide at Hickman, Ky., set her clothes on fire and succeeded.

Virginia will vote on statewide prohibition on September 22. Of the 140,000 voters in the state, half signed the petition.

Lieut. Arthur R. Underwood has been detailed by the war Department to be military instructor at Kentucky State University.

Huerta has not left the capital yet, but his flight is expected any day. The rebels are ready to enter the capital in twelve hours after he leaves.

Attorney General Newton Estes and Mayor Crump, of Memphis, are having a bitter personal controversy that has reached a stage where gun play is expected to be the next move.

In case the United States is forced to intervene in Hayti and San Domingo, a trusteeship will be established over the islands, according to the plan being discussed in Washington.

Justice Lurton was one of three Democrats on the court and his successor will be a Democrat. Attorney General McReynolds and Secretary Lane are mentioned, but the South may claim the place.

After a canvass the administration senators reported to the President that his nomination of Thomas D. Jones, of Chicago, to the Federal Reserve board, would be confirmed by a slight majority. There are no developments in the nomination of Paul M. Warburg, of New York.

The body of Justice Lurton arrived in Clarksville Tuesday night and the funeral services were held at the Episcopal church yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, followed by interment at Greenwood Cemetery, Chief Justice White, Justice Lamar and several other officials attended from Washington.

Carranza is the logical man for President of Mexico. He is a friend of Madero, the assassinated president, and is a white man of character and education. Above all, he has led the constitutionalists to victory and there is no good reason why he should step aside for some man who did not take his life in his own hands. Let Carranza have it.

It takes a mountain county to lead the van in the good roads movement where less than 100 votes were cast against a $150,000 bond issue. All the growth in Kentucky is in the mountains and most of the progress.—Elizabethtown News.

Wrong, Harry! Hopkinsville showed a 80 per cent. increase in the 1910 census without annexation of suburbs and the increase has been still more rapid since that time. There is at least one growing city in Western Kentucky.

Hon. David H. Smith, of Hodgenville, candidate for U. S. Senator for the short term, was in the city Monday and Tuesday presenting his claims to the Democrats. Mr. Smith was long a State Senator and was a Congressman from the Fourth District for ten years. He was announced as a candidate for the full term but retired last spring. Mr. Smith is one of the most loyal and deserving Democrats in Kentucky and has friends all over Kentucky who want to see him realize his ambition to represent Kentucky in the Senate.

ROAST CHICKEN AND MELTED BUTTER IN FOX BROS. PLANT

Big Wholesale House Burned Monday Night at Loss of $40,000.

ORIGIN OF FIRE UNKNOWN.

Losses Partially Covered By Insurance and Plant Will Resume.

Fire destroyed the Fox Bros. Co.'s plant at 7:30 o'clock Monday night. It was the biggest fire in Hopkinsville for several years. The plant was located at First and Railroad Streets and comprised the frame building formerly used as a canning factory and a new brick structure alongside it, just completed for the creamery business.

The company had operated a wholesale poultry house for several years and was doing an annual business of $150,000 in that line alone. Last spring it started the creamery plant with the milk from 500 cows and it was making a big success. Creamery butter was being shipped all over the country and $1800 worth of butter ready to ship was burned.

FRANK G. FOX.

They also manufactured ice cream, which was supplied to local and out-of-town customers and shipped into many points in other states.

Another considerable branch of business was the daily delivery of buttermilk, supplying a crying need of house-keepers in the city.

The company had its own ice plant and cold storage and the new building was modern in all respects and equipped with the most costly and up-to-day creamery machinery.

The big poultry house directly on the railroad was used at this season for cooping frying-size chickens which were milk fed until fat and then marketed. In these coops 1,500 chickens worth 35 cents a piece were burned up.

The creamery was supported by many farmers who were making $50 to $80 a month selling butter fat. The loss of this market for a short time even will be a source of much loss to the farmers.

The loss is $35,000 to $40,000 on Fox Bros. Co. The insurance was $23,600, of which $17,500 was with the agency of Higgins & Son and $6,000 with Winfree & Son. A car load of coal standing on the siding caught and two loaded box cars were partly burned.

The fire was first seen in the extreme rear or north end, being reported by a colored man living near by. The fire department responded quickly and all was done that was possible, but it was impossible to save any part of the plant. The old building was a fire-trap, built outside of the fire limits of inflammable material, and it was quickly aflame all over, making a hot fire that doomed the fine new building adjacent on the east side. This was also completely wrecked, the walls falling into the basement making a complete loss of the costly plant.

Frank and Will Fox, the president and secretary of the company, were at the office, just back from supper, to make some shipments. They did all they could by intelligent direction to get out furniture and movable fixtures.

Frank Fox was prostrated by heat and was taken to his home by Dr. J. W. Harned in his auto and soon revived.

Will Fox left his necktie with a $250 diamond pin in it lying on his desk when he went to work. He thought of it half an hour after the fire and found the jewel on the desk which had been taken out and placed in a crowd of 2,000 people who were congregated around the burning buildings.

The house here was operated by two of the Fox brothers, of the big Peter Fox Sons Co., of Chicago, one of the leading produce houses of the country.

One of the losses in the cold storage room was 110 gallons of ice cream ready for shipment the next morning. It is hoped that some of the expensive machinery in the creamery is not burned beyond repair and can be used again.

The firemen kept one stream of water playing on the ammonia tanks in the refrigerating plant and these did not blow up, as the fire was controlled after the frame building had burned.

A number of telephone and telegraph poles were burned down, putting several lines temporarily out of commission. Two refrigerator cars on the railroad siding were badly damaged.

The Fox Brothers Co., will get back in business at the earliest possible moment. The plant will be rebuilt at once at the same location, but they will open up temporarily in the big vacant garage in the Cooper-Davis building on Twelfth street. It is down town and will be very convenient for handling cream and butter. The company began receiving milk yesterday. The separators were ordered by express and the interruption in business will be short.

The burned building was on property leased from the L. & N. and the new building will be a greatly improved and thoroughly equipped modern structure.

Hopkinsville has no more enterprising citizens than the Fox brothers.

THOUSANDS OF VOTES ADD INTEREST IN BIG CONTEST

Every Contestant Who Is Working Has The Support of Loyal Friends--Many Subscriptions Will Be Turned In This Week On Account of The Extra Vote Offer.

The Kentuckian Automobile and Trip Contest, and who the winners will be, is the most discussed proposition in the city and county. The large number of votes being cast in favor of the various contestants is creating much interest in behalf of the contestants who are making an effort to win. All are finding new friends and supporters each day.

Who will win the auto and the trips is the question heard everywhere.

This offer being the largest and most liberal ever made to the public of Hopkinsville and Christian county, it is but natural that the interest manifested in this contest should surpass any of present or former days.

After Saturday only four weeks remain of the contest. While there is no time to lose, yet there is plenty of time for all contestants to see their friends in all sections and secure their subscriptions and support.

There is plenty of time for the lady with the fewest number of votes to her credit to start now and secure

CANDIDATES LOCK HORNS

Judge Henson and Mr. Kincheloe Holding Joint Discussion.

BOTH ARE SATISFIED.

Last Speeches In County This Afternoon And To-night.

The first joint discussion in this county between the Congressional aspirants, was held at court house Monday night. Mr. Kincheloe was unable to make the Crofton date in the afternoon, but was on hand here. The night was hot and sultry and the fire raging on First street interfered with the meeting, but a crowd of about 150 was present and gave an attentive hearing to both candidates.

It was arranged for Judge Henson to go first for 40 minutes and to have a 10 minutes rejoinder to Mr. Kincheloe.

Judge Walter Knight presided and introduced each of the candidates with a few complimentary remarks.

Judge Henson began by saying that his mother was a native of Christian county, that he was born on a farm in Webster county, studied law after he was of age, and about 14 years ago, was elected county judge of Webster county. Two years later he was nominated for circuit judge over a strong candidate, and elected. Five years ago he was re-elected without any opposition and four years ago moved to the city of Henderson, where half of his time as judge was required. He said he had been criticised as being an officeholder, but he had tried to earn the salary paid him and felt that his services in a laborious position entitled him to consideration for the higher place. He anticipated criticisms Mr. Kincheloe would make and said he had been a true and loyal

HUERTA QUILTS WITH-OUT EVEN SALUTING

Democrat, and had always contributed his share of campaign expenses, paying whatever was asked of him, and had sometimes sent more, and besides contributed to national campaign fund. He then turned his attention to party measures and said he was in favor of the building of good roads by the general government and said a method of dealing with tobacco by the government similar to the foreign Regies, would benefit all concerned and destroy the tobacco trust. He endorsed the President's administration fully, especially his financial legislation and his handling of the Mexican question.

Mr. Kincheloe has a strong following here and was greeted by applause as he began and at frequent intervals when telling points were made.

He told of his early struggles in McLean county, and of having been county attorney when only 24 years of age. While sick in bed he was beaten by a few votes for re-election, a fact, he said, that his opponent had dwelt upon in his speeches. Stricken with appendicitis, he had been unable to make a canvass, having been forced to practically abandon the race in a contest that was so close that several other Democrats failed of election. He said Judge Henson's salary for two terms was $42,000 and that he should be satisfied with $350 a month.

Mr. Kincheloe in eloquent and patriotic language upheld the doctrines of his party and reviewed the work of the Wilson administration. In discussions of national affairs no issues were raised between the speakers, both stoutly advocating the Democratic platform measures. Mr. Kincheloe is a graceful and accomplished orator, with a fund of anecdote that keeps an audience in constant good humor. His supporters here were quite enthusiastic over his presentation of his claims in the first joint discussion.

The candidates were at Bainbridge and Pembroke Tuesday and at Lafayette and Howell yesterday. At all these places they were heard by good crowds and both express themselves satisfied with the outlook. They will close the debates in this county at Bluff Springs and Dogwood chapel to-day.

Dictator Carries Out His Plan of Naming His Own Successor.

SOUNDING THIS COUNTRY.

No Recognition, But Likely To Deal Informally Until Transfer of Rule.

Washington, July 15.—The Brazilian Minister to Mexico, who is caring for the interests of the United States in that country, telegraphed the state department that the resignation of Gen. Huerta in favor of Francisco Carranza, the newly appointed minister of foreign affairs, was expected Wednesday.

Minister Suarez, of Chile, one of the three mediators, anticipating the retirement of Huerta, sought an informal talk with Secretary Bryan to learn what the attitude of the United States would be toward the Carranza government. While the Washington government will not recognize Carranza, Minister Suarez learned that the American government was not disinclined to treat informally with the new administration until a transfer of power to the constitutionalists could be effected.

Earlier in the day Minister Suarez held a conference with Fernando Iglesias Calderon, head of the liberal party in Mexico, who is here on a private mission for Gen. Carranza. Mr. Calderon holds the view that unless the Huerta forces are ready to capitulate conferences would be futile.

Gen. Carranza himself notified the United States through John R. Silliman, formerly American consul at Saltillo, and now personal representative of President Wilson there, that only the unconditional surrender of the authorities at Mexico City would be accepted.

Mr. Silliman, in his report, spoke in complimentary terms of Carranza and said his reception by the constitutional chief was most cordial. General Carranza explained why it would be impossible to hold peace parleys with Huerta delegates and said that all his generals had demanded that the plan of Guadalupe, providing that Carranza, as president ad interim, take military possession of Mexico City, be carried out to the letter. Carranza assured the American representative that the constitutional forces would soon enter Mexico City and maintain order there.

Carranza promised that if the Huerta forces surrendered unconditionally that he would give ample guarantees for the protection of life and property.

Officials here were greatly pleased at Carranza's friendliness toward the United States. They indicated that while the American government would have preferred to see peace conferences no step would be taken by the United States to interfere with the revolution. The constitutionalists have been informed, however, that they will not be accorded recognition if excesses are committed on their entry into Mexico City.

NEGRO LYNCHED FOR

THEFT THREE MULES.

Lake Cormorant, Miss., July 14.—James Bailey, a negro, accused of the theft of three mules, was hanged to-day by a mob of about twenty masked men near Lake Cormorant. Bailey was taken from an officer while en route in an automobile to the county jail at Hernando. An investigation by a coroner's jury late to-day failed to establish the identity of any member of the mob.

PROFIT AND PLEASURE IN BEE INDUSTRY

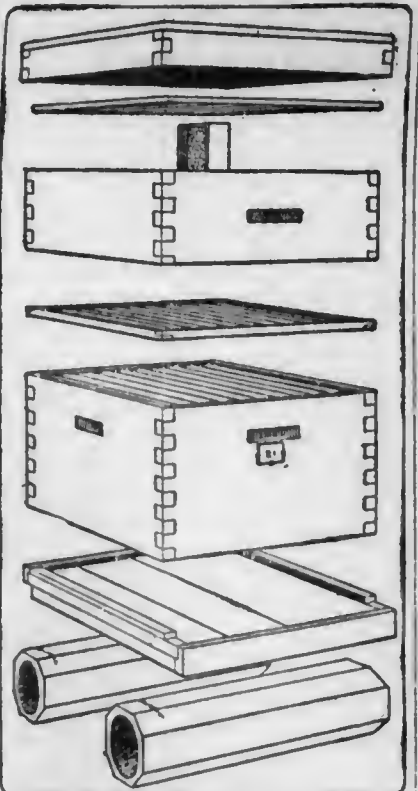

A Well Arranged Apiary.

Beekeeping for pleasure and profit is carried on by many thousands of people in all parts of the United States. There are many places where an experienced beekeeper can make a good living by devoting his entire time and attention to this line of work. It is usually unwise, however, to undertake extensive beekeeping, the U. S. department of agriculture says, without considerable previous experience on a small scale, since there are so many minor details which go to make up success.

The average annual honey yield per colony for the entire country, under good management, will probably be twenty-five to thirty pounds of comb honey or forty to fifty pounds of extracted honey, the latter being more productive owing to the fact that the comb is used repeatedly instead of being made anew by the bees each time.
The money return to be obtained from the crop depends entirely on the market and the method of selling the honey. If sold direct to the consumer, extracted honey brings from ten to twenty cents per pound, and comb honey from fifteen to twenty-five cents per section. If sold to dealers, the price varies from six to ten cents for extracted honey and from ten to fifteen cents for comb honey.

The location of the hives is a matter of considerable importance. As a rule it is better for hives to face away from the prevailing wind and to be protected from high winds. In the North, a south slope is desirable. It is advisable for hives to be so placed that the sun will strike them early in the morning, so that the bees become active early in the day, and thus gain an advantage by getting the first

A Ten-Frame Hive With Comb-Honey
Super and Perforated Zinc Queen supply of nectar. It is also advantageous to have the hives shaded during the hottest part of the day, so that the bees will not hang out in front of the hive instead of working. They should be so placed that the bees will not prove a nuisance to passers-by or disturb live stock. This latter precaution may save the beekeeper considerable trouble, for bees sometimes prove dangerous, especially to horses. Bees are also sometimes annoying in the early spring, for on their first flights they may spot clothes hung out to dry. This may be remedied by removing the bees

from the cellars on days when no clothes are to be hung out.

The plot on which the hives are placed should be kept free from weeds, especially in front of the entrances. The grass may be cut with a lawn mower, but it will often be found more convenient and as effective to pasture one or more head of sheep
in the apiary inclosure.

The hives should be far enough
apart to permit of free manipulation.
If hives are too close together there is danger of bees entering the wrong hive on returning, especially in the spring.

As a rule, it is not considered best to keep more than one hundred colonies in one apiary, and apiaries should be at least two miles apart.
There are so many factors to be considered, however, that no general rule can be laid down. The only way to learn how many colonies any given locality will sustain is to study the honey flora and the record of that place. The beekeeper must then decide for himself the best number to be kept and where they shall be placed.

Hives.

The type of hive most generally used in this country consists of a plain wooden box holding frames hung from a rabbet at the top and not touching the sides, top or bottom.
Hives of this type are made to hold eight, ten or more frames.

Whatever hive is chosen, there are certain important points which should be insisted on. The material should be of the best; the parts must be accurately made, so that all frames or hives in the apiary are interchangeable.
All hives should be of the Spring Bee Escape.

same style and size, and should be as simple as it is possible to make them, to facilitate operation. As a rule, it is better to buy hives and frames from a manufacturer of such goods rather than to try to make them, unless one is an expert woodworker.

Hives should be painted to protect them from the weather. It is usually desirable to use white paint to prevent excessive heat in the colony bottom. Other light colors are satisfactory, but it is best to avoid red or black.

Hive Stands.
Generally it is best to have each hive on a separate stand. The entrance should be lower than any other part of the hive. Stands of wood, bricks, tile, concrete blocks, or any other convenient material will answer the purpose. The hive should be raised above the ground, so that the bottom will not rot. It is usually not necessary to raise the hive more than a few inches.

Directions for Manipulations.
Bees should be handled so that they will be little disturbed in their work.
As much as possible, stings should be avoided during manipulation. This is true, not so much because they are painful to the operator, but because the odor of poison which gets into the air irritates the other bees and makes them more difficult to manage.
For this reason it is most advisable to wear a black veil over a wide-brimmed hat and to have a good smoker. Gloves, however, are usually more an inconvenience than otherwise. Gauntlets or rubber bands around the cuffs keep the bees from crawling up the sleeve. It is best to avoid black clothing, since that color seems to excite bees; a black felt hat is especially to be avoided.

Superfluous quick movements tend to irritate the bees. The hive should not be jarred or disturbed any more than necessary. Rapid movements are objectionable, because with their peculiar eye structure bees probably perceive motion more readily than they do objects. Persons not accustomed to bees, on approaching a hive, often strike at bees which fly toward them or make some quick movement of the head or hand to avoid the sting which they fear is to follow. This should not be done, for the rapid movement, even if not toward the bee, is far more likely to be followed by a sting than is remaining quiet.

The best time to handle bees is during the middle of warm days, particularly during a honey flow. Never Knives for Uncapping Honey.

handle bees at night or on cold, wet days unless absolutely necessary. The work of a beginner may be made much easier and more pleasant by keeping gentle bees. Caucasians, Carulolans, Bannits and some strains of Italians ordinarily do not sting much unless unusually provoked or except in bad weather. Common black bees or crosses of blacks with other races are more irritable. It may be well worth while for the beginner to procure gentle bees while gaining experience in manipulation.
Later on, this is less important, for the beekeeper learns to handle bees with little inconvenience to himself or to the bees. Various remedies for bee stings have been advocated, but they are all useless.

AND PRESUMABLY IT ROLLED

At Any Rate, the Ocean Had Agitated Schoolboy's Full Permission to Do So.

A few years ago in a small log schoolhouse in one of our southern states an entertainment was being given at the close of the three months' school term. Many of the patrons of the school were present to see how their children would acquit themselves. All the children had given a recitation save one large, overgrown boy, who had been placed at the end of the program for reasons obvious to the teacher. He had spent the greater part of two weeks preparing his recitation. When his turn came he marched boldly to the front and in a manner which would have been a credit to a present-day political speaker began:

"Roll on, thou dark and deep blue ocean, roll—" here he came to a sudden pause unable to proceed further. After a moment's hesitation, during which his face took on several different colors, he got this out:

"Roll on, blame you, roll on." Then he sat down amidst the surprised glances of his friends and classmates.—National Monthly.

SHOCK FOR WEARY WILLIE

Man to Whom He Offered Advice War Distinctly Not a Member of the Hobo Craft.

The superintendent of a Michigan railway was in Pennsylvania, and one day he was looking with interest at some rails that had been laid by machine on the Pennsylvania track. He had been traveling, was dusty and unshaven, and his hands were deep in his pockets, as if trying to hunt a nickel.

Suddenly he was startled to find a tramp by his side, who said, genially: "I wouldn't try this line, pard. They're very stiff on de Pennsy. Ever try 'em? Last time I did I was chucked off on my head. Let's hoof it over here a bit, where we can catch de Erie. They's dead easy."

The superintendent smiled and said: "I appreciate your kindly offers of advice and assistance, my friend, but I happen to be a railroad superintendent, and don't have to walk. Whenever you're up my way I'll give you a trip over our road. Here's my card and something to get a meal."

The hobo stuck the card inside the band of his hat, and shuffled away evidently too amazed to speak.

HAD LEARNED LESSON.

One hundred years ago the first French parliament, after the restoration of the Bourbons, was opened by King Louis XVIII. At the same time the constitutional charter was promulgated. Considering the conditions and sentiments of the times, the new charter was of an extremely liberal character. The king, while maintaining the principle of his sovereignty and free will, accepted all the guarantees of liberty claimed by the representatives of the people. The charter provided for a continuance of the representative government, consisting of two bodies, the senate and chamber of deputies. The freedom of the press and the liberty of religious worship were guaranteed and, in conclusion, the charter declared that no person need be anxious on account of his opinions or his votes.

PORK FOR THE DUKE.

Among the stories told by Lieutenant Colonel Newnam-Davis in his new book, "The Gourmet's Guide," is one concerning the late duke of Cambridge. It is said that he, like his father before him, had a liking for pork, and at one time word went round the British army that at inspection lunches it was wise to give his royal highness pork chops.

Of course, the British army overdid it, and the old duke had so many pork chops put before him in the course of a year that at last their presence on the menu was far more likely to assist in the securing of an unfavorable report on a regiment than was their absence.

STAYED AWAY

"What kind of a time did you have at your party?"
"I didn't go," replied Mr. Cumrox. "I knew that nobody would be noticed except the high-priced tenor and the professional tango dancers I had engaged. I'll be hanged if I'm going to be snubbed at my own party."

SECTION 8. The word "Purchaser" as used herein, refers alike to the actual purchaser of this franchise, his or its successors, associates and assigns.

SECTION 9. This franchise is sold upon the condition that the purchaser thereof shall in good faith commence the construction of an interurban electric railroad in said County within two years from the date of the approval of the sale of this franchise.

FISHING SEASON AT THE HUB

Transcript of That City Waxes Ponderously Facetious Over Word-ing of Notice of Opening.

The "Compleat Angler" is now he who makes free with the Charles River basin. You may take the fish of any one species, if you can. Or, as the lady remarked to the skipper of the fishing schooner—"What I can't understand is how you let the fish know what kind you want to catch." Of course, the real trouble is to make fish understand that they should allow themselves to be caught at all, without regard to race, color or previous condition of fishitude. The announcement of open season apprises a hopeful public that the smelt season has begun, and also that "white perch and eels may be taken." The subjunctive is eloquent. Conservative minds will place the verb at the one more removed of "might." Joints are permissible; but it is not good legal form to sit on the floats or landings and let feet hang over, at least not and keep friendly with the genial and long-indulging park police. Nor is the fish wharf to send a fleet of dorymen up to set trawls or drag seines. That is professionalism, not sport. There may be question whether people, when so many things are listed among what they must not do, would care to try the fishing at all. This apprehension is groundless. For your fisherman, if he truly loves the sport, does not reckon his gain in fish, but in the long leisure of angling.—Boston Transcript.

CONTINENTAL ENGLISH.

The idea that English is to be the universal language of the future seems to be spreading. Certainly thousands of Europeans struggle bravely with its rules and idioms. Here is a sample of the progress that has been made in one quarter. It is taken from the advertising matter that a large continental hotel publishes in the form of an elaborate illustrated booklet:

"Its spacious dimensions, exquisite comfort, elegant fashion of its furnishing, the unobjectionable prerogatives as to the produce of its kitchen and contents of its cellars, beside the distinguished managing, which, assisted by well-experienced attendants, does its utmost in always duly treating—all this united already for many years past obtained a general renown, even abroad too."—Youth's Companion.

ROSE-COLORED SNOW.

Rose-colored snow fell recently in the Alps, chiefly on the mountains (11,887 feet) in the Canton of Glarus. On analyzing the snow it was found to be impregnated with minute particles of sand. It is thought that this is the after effect of the great storm above the Alps, which blew large quantities of sand recently across the sea and the Italian Alps to the Swiss mountains, descending on the white slopes in "yellow snow." The "rose snow," however, has hung in the upper air several weeks before falling.

LEGISLATION ON TUBERCULOSIS

In 48 States Have Laws of Different Kinds Been Passed.

Legislation dealing with tuberculosis has been enacted in 48 states and territories of the United States, according to a comprehensive bulletin on this subject soon to be published by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Only in the states of Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming and Alaska has the subject been given no legislation consideration.

State tuberculosis senatoria to the number of 42 have been established in 33 different states. Special laws providing for the establishment of local hospitals by municipalities or counties have been passed in 14 states. In 31 states, laws are in force providing for the reporting and registration of living cases of tuberculosis. In four states, New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Minnesota, special laws have been enacted giving state and local health authorities power to remove and detain tuberculous persons who menace the health of their families or associates. Six states, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, New York and Texas, have laws which give the people the privilege of voting at general or special elections on the establishment of county or municipal tuberculosis hospitals. Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Washington grant subsidies ranging from $3.00 to $5.00 per week to such local hospitals. Laws prohibiting spitting in public places have been enacted in more than 20 states.

Commenting on the problem of state legislation as it affects the prevention of tuberculosis, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis says: "A law providing for the reporting and registration of every living case of tuberculosis is fundamental to any thoroughgoing campaign against this disease. Without a knowledge of the location of every case of tuberculosis, the disease cannot be controlled. Of equal importance also is legislation which will give cities, towns and counties the authority to establish and maintain local hospitals for tuberculosis cases. The control of tuberculosis is a local problem. Everything possible should be done to provide institutions easy of access, especially for advanced cases."

Then and Now.

In 1899, during the famous Goebel convention, Hon. J. C. W. Beckham was a candidate for Lieutenant Governor with his headquarters in a room at the Galt House located across a hall from a room occupied by two members of the Democratic Executive Committee. The committeemen on the day of the convention were surprised to find a large case of whisky in their room, from one of the leading liquor firms of Louisville. A close examination of the address showed that it was intended for the room across the way and the porter was called to correct his mistake. It was taken into Mr. Beckham's room and very little prohibition talk was heard in the room while it lasted. Mr. Beckham was nominated for lieutenant governor and subsequently became governor. This year he is running for Senator and again has headquarters in Louisville, but there is no accurate data as to what beverages his managers keep on hand.

HIGH PRICE OF HUSBANDS

Leads to Suicide Among Young Bengal Girls.

(Calcutta Cor. New York Times) The Statesman of this city prints the following paragraph: "It appears that quite a new spirit has arisen among the girlhood of the Bengali race. Bengal has of late witnessed with astonishment akin to a feeling of reverence and admiration a number of cases of self-immolation of tender Bengal girls." What this Hindu writer thus complacently describes is in reality a curious epidemic of suicide. It began some weeks ago with self-destruction of a girl named Snehalata, whose father was about to mortgage his property in order to pay the purchase price of a husband for her.

The sum now demanded by the fathers of eligible boys in Bengal is ruinously high. The price of a Kaysath who has graduated may go up to 10,000 rupees ($2,300), 3,000 rupees is a quite usual demand, and even a matriculate can command 500 rupees. The enhancement of rates is due to the law of supply and demand. Girls must ordinarily be married before puberty, while the increasing requirements of education lead to the postponement of the marriage of boys. There is thus a diminishing supply of husbands, whereas the demand is unchanged.

The suicide of Snehalata, who poured kerosene oil over her clothing and set herself on fire, provoked an outburst of admiration among marriage reformers and the fathers of marriageable girls. The natural result is that other young girls have followed the example of Snehalata, while it is common talk among school girls that when the time comes for their marriage they will sacrifice themselves in the same way.

DENIES INSANITY

ON THE INCREASE

Chicago, July 14.—Dr. George A. Zeller, of Peoria, Ill., member of the Illinois board of administration, took issue today with other speakers at the meeting here of alienists and neurologists, when he denied that insanity is on the increase. He asserted that an apparent increase was due to improved conditions, that resulted in a greater proportion of such cases being reported.

Dr. Julius Grinker, of Chicago, said that the primitive custom of casting defective children into the river again might become a custom if better remedies could not be discovered. Resolutions were adopted condemning the use of liquor and urging public hospitals for inebriates.

MARINES READY FOR DUTY

Navy to Prepare Force For Service in Haiti and San Domingo.

REQUEST MADE BY BRYAN.

Sent to Guantanamo For Protection of American Property On Island.

Washington, July 14.—Seven hundred marines have been ordered assembled at Guantanamo to be held in readiness for service in Haiti and San Domingo.

The Navy Department acted at the request of Secretary Bryan, who asked that the fleet be prepared to deal with any emergency that might arise on the turbulent little island. The marines will be gathered from those now on duty in Mexican waters and from the marine barracks in Philadelphia and Norfolk.

At Guantanamo the force will be only a day's sail from the north coast of Haiti and San Domingo, and their proximity is expected to impress upon the revolutionary leaders the determination of the American Government to terminate their activities by forcible means unless they listen to the warnings already given. The situation in San Domingo has come to be regarded as almost hopeless of a cure from within, while in Haiti conditions are little better.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Are Two Muhlenberg Men Charged With Being In Raid.

Greenville, Ky., July 15.—The examining trials of Marvin H. Knight, Marion Samples and E. M. Martin, who were charged with being in the raid of the "possum hunters" last Monday night when the residence of W. H. Chumly, of Beech Creek, was attacked and shot up, were held before County Judge J. J. Rice.

On motion of the Commonwealth the charge against E. M. Martin was dismissed.

Samples and Knight were held over to await the action of the grand jury and their bonds fixed at $750, which they gave and were released. Knight relied on an alibi which the court held he failed to make out, and no evidence was introduced in favor of Samples. A large number of sympathizers of the accused thronged the courtroom during the trial, which consumed all day.

Prefers Americans.

The American Countess De Bois Lucy, who was recently divorced in Paris, was married in Geneva three months ago to Edward Johnston Wilson, a New York and Montreal broker. The countess, when divorced said in an interview that the only husbands possible were Americans. She was formerly Mrs. J. D. Batchelder of Chicago (nee O'Neill of Mississippi). Her great grandfather was the first Governor of Tennessee.

Short Liberty.

Chas. Hill, col., who escaped from the city workhouse gang Monday was captured the same afternoon south of town by Sheriff Jewell Smith and two deputies who saw him slipping through a cornfield. He had 17 days to serve and under the law is now entitled to 170 days.

Barns Are Struck.

Marion, Ky., July 13.—In a thunderstorm which covered most of Crittenden county last night, T. E. Griffith, living about eight miles northwest of Marion, lost a fine barn, which was struck by lightning and burned to the ground in a short time. John Cochran, living about three miles from town, had a similar misfortune, lightning striking a barn containing about eight tons of hay and speedily destroying it. The rain which accompanied the storm was light.

Too Much Royalty.

Prince Alexander of Teck, who will succeed the Duke of Connaught as Governor General of Canada this fall, will not be welcome, at least not welcome to a large majority. The Canadians object to royalty in their affairs. They say the Duke of Connaught was the limit in that direction for a people whose nearest neighbor is the greatest republic on earth.

RED LIGHT FINES ARE CALLED GRAFT

Henderson Judge Says Officials Who Take Them Are Culpable as The Women.

Henderson, Ky., July 16.—The practicing of "licensing" houses of illrepute by means of regular fines received a scoring in county court here to-day by Judge S. A. Young, who held that the officers and courts that tolerate and perpetuate this regular system of fines are as blamable as the women themselves.

Judge Young said that heretofore he has not had the authority to break up the practice but he believes that he now has the authority and he proposes to exercise it. He proposes not only to stop the practice of fining the women of the underworld but he will drive them from the city, he says.

His condemnation of public officials connected with the fine system was sensational.

London Criticizes New York. The little differences between life in London and New York are by no means all to the credit of the latter. Our letter post crosses London in a couple of hours; theirs often takes a couple of days to cross New York. In London the goods you purchase in the morning may be sent home before the evening; in New York you are lucky if they arrive next day. The parcel post, too, is quite a new thing in America. Add to this such facts as the absence of "boots" in the hotels—the guests having to resort to the street-corner "shiners"—and the display of dust-bins, even in fashionable streets, long after midday, and it will be seen that the "smart" and "slow" of which the American is so fond when comparing himself with us are not always to be applied as he applies them.—London Chronicle.

MEN IN MIND IN HOPKINSVILLE

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Penny-royal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 35.

This Is a Picture Of The Man Who Keeps You Cool In Hot Weather.

With the mercury running as high as 106 in the shade in these July days, while the sun is shining brightly on the old Kentucky home, there is one man who is uppermost in the thoughts of every one. It is our friend, the Ice Man.

Hopkinsville not only has one who supplies the city's needs, but those of the surrounding country as well. The Ellis Ice & Coal Co. is one of the most successful manufacturing establishments in the city.

More than a quarter of a century ago F. L. Ellis and E. L. Ellis established the business on a small scale and enlarged the plant from time to time to keep pace with the needs of the city. Other ice companies have been started up during the last 20 years, but in the end they have retired leaving the Ellis Ice & Coal Company without competition. Just when the company was busiest in extending its trade far and wide, F. L. Ellis, the head of the company, was cut down suddenly in the midst of his success as a business man and his usefulness as a progressive citizen. It was a severe blow to the company, but Louis Ellis, a son of the deceased president, stepped into his father's shoes, and though a mere boy, took up the work his father had laid down, while the company had the advantage of the surviving brother's experience and knowledge of the business he had helped to develop.

The young man at once found his hands full of work to do. He proved equal to the emergency. His youth in time was outgrown and his energy and enthusiasm were boundless. There was no transitory stage for him. The schoolboy at once became a business man, and though still under 30 he deserves to rank with the commercial leaders of the city. The big company with which he is identified is a strong corporation and the plant is one of the finest in Kentucky for the manufacture of ice. Though enjoying a monopoly for many years, the Ellises have furnished ice at reasonable prices and have kept their factory up-to-date in every respect, adding new improvements from year to year and adopting every device to improve the quality of their ice and systematize its delivery to the public. In public matters looking to the up-building of the city in which they were born and in which all their lives have been spent, they can be relied upon to do their part liberally and properly. In common with other good citizens, they have an abiding faith in the future greatness of Hopkinsville. They have prospered in the city, but the city owes a great deal to them for helping to make it a pleasant place for all of us to live.

St. Louis Democrat Who Was Seated in The House.

When Mitchel J. Gill, of St. Louis, ran for the house of Representatives against L. C. Dyer in St. Louis more than a year ago, he had money in the bank and he owned a nice home. Dyer went to the House, but Gill determined to contest the seat. He spent what money he had in the bank and also the value of his home.

With very little money he moved his family to Washington to be near the scene to carry on his contest. He got work in a glass works near Washington at $2 a day, and his son played a violin in a moving picture show of Washington to aid in the fight.

PUMP WATER

Pure gurgling, rippling water, fresh from deep ice cold wells, but you will need a Pump with which to do this.

After many years of experience in the Pump business, we have come to the conclusion that the "Red Jacket" So Easy to Fix and the Myers Deep and Shallow Well Pump, will cover any and all conditions that may arise in connection with elevating water, either by hand, Wind Mill or Gasoline Engine. This is due to the Mechanism of the Cylinder which is the heart of a Pump. Without "efficiency" in the Cylinder a Pump is worthless. That is where and how the Red Jacket and the Myers have established their reputation.

If you contemplate installing a system of Water Works, before doing so, we invite you to examine these pumps. It will be worth your while, besides save you Time and Money.
